\[ \text{Payment} = \text{Initial Value} + (\text{Initial Value} \times \text{Upside Leverage Factor}) \]

 Reflects Upside Leverage Factor equal to the minimum Upside Leverage Factor set forth herein, for illustrative purposes.

The "total return" as used above is the number, expressed as a percentage, that results from comparing the payment at maturity per $1,000 principal amount note to $1,000.

The hypothetical returns shown above apply only at maturity. These hypotheticals do not reflect fees or expenses that would be associated with any sale in the secondary market. If these fees and expenses were included, the hypothetical returns shown above would likely be lower.

It is possible that such hedging or other trading activities of J.P. Morgan or its affiliates could result in substantial returns for J.P. Morgan and its affiliates while the value of the notes decline.
