¹This number has, in some cases, been rounded for ease of presentation. As of May 26, 2010, the Market Capitalization of the ETNs was $1,139,600,000, which equals the number of ETNs issued as of May 26, 2010 multiplied by the closing price of the ETNs on May 26, 2010. A portion of the ETNs as of May 26, 2010 is held by an affiliate of JPMorgan Chase & Co.

²Source: Bloomberg. This number, which is a measure of the liquidity of the ETNs, has been rounded for ease of presentation. As of May 26, 2010 the daily average trading volume of the ETNs was 583,000 notes, which equals the average number of the ETNs traded across all exchanges over the 3-month period from February 26, 2010 to May 26, 2010, as reported on Bloomberg. The issuer may engage in regulated secondary market transactions in excess of the daily average trading volume of the ETNs, although it is not required to do so. The liquidity of the market for the ETNs may vary materially over time.

³Current Yield equals the most recent quarterly coupon annualized and divided by the closing price of the ETNs on May 26, 2010, and rounded to one decimal place for ease of presentation. The current yield is not indicative of the coupon payments, if any, on the ETNs.

⁴Tracking fee as defined in the pricing supplement dated April 19, 2010.

⁵Source: Bloomberg. Calculated as of May 26, 2010. The index began publishing on June 1, 2006 and, therefore, all index performance data prior to June 1, 2006 is hypothetical. Index returns are displayed without deducting fees. Hypothetical, historical performance is not indicative of future results.
